

Can you give me advice regarding how to price my home or how to negotiate with a potential buyer?

Again, the answer is unfortunately no. We should re-iterate that we are not estate agents and can therefore not legally act as one, which includes advising you in any way.

There is plenty of advice available online which covers every aspect of buying and selling your home. We do provide links to the best of this information on this website for you to peruse.Click here
