

Who sells property privately?

Practically anyone can do a private house sale (of course owners already registered with an estate agent should check the terms of their agreement).

Selling property privately appeals to all kinds of people. If you're the kind of person who likes saving money, especially thousands of pounds, you're probably already thinking "I'd like to sell my own home"!

Click the big green button on our homepage to start the easy process of selling your property privately